DIRECTIONS
FOR USING THE
STYPTIC SOLUTION:
A NEW DISCOVERY,
By the Chevalier RUSPINI,
SURGEON-DENTIST TO HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES;

Which has lately been found to have the moſt ſalutary Effects both in internal and external Hæmorrhages.

THE Chevalier RUSPINI is happy in introducing to the Public his invaluable Diſcovery for ſtopping of Blood, the ſuperior Efficacy of which to all others, has been ſanctioned by the moſt uniform, and reſpectable Teſtimonials.—In the ſmall Space allotted here, he can only ſay, that as Styptics in general are made of corroſive Materials, they cannot be taken without Injury to the Mouth or Stomach; on the contrary, this Styptic may be taken without Injury to either; a Proof of the latter amongſt many others, is the recent Caſe of a Lady of a moſt tender Conſtitution, who after having taken Six Bottles in its pure, and undiluted State, was thereby cured of a violent Spitting of Blood, which, humanly ſpeaking, would have put a Period to her Exiſtence in a few Hours. This ſhews that it is perfectly harmleſs in its nature, and that it is of ſo much Importance to Society, that it may be preſumed no Family ſhould ever be without it.

In Uterine Floodings the Styptic may be uſed with the utmoſt Safety, as an Injection, which may be repeated, according to the Urgency of the Caſe.

In Bloody Stools, a celebrated Phyſician aſſerts that it has given great Relief to the Patient, by mixing it in Clyſters.

WOUNDS.

TAKE a ſufficient Quantity of Lint to cover the Wound, let it be well ſoaked in the Solution and placed on the Part, firſt cleanſed as much as poſſible from the Blood, (if this Caution be not attended to, it may not produce ſo ſudden an Effect) keep it there a ſhort Time by a ſlight Preſſure of the Hand or Fingers, but ſhould the Wound bleed again, renew the Application in the ſame Manner, and confine it by the moderate Preſſure of a Linen Roller.

In Ulcers that do not digeſt kindly, a Piece of Lint of the Size of the Sore is to be moiſtened, and confined on it, and repeated every Morning; if in the Leg, the Bandage ſhould be tighter, and reach, in regular Folds, from the Foot up to the lower Part of the Thigh.

In Bleedings from the Noſe, a ſmall Piece of Lint being dipped into the Styptic, is to be gently inſerted into the Noſtril, and if the Bleeding does not immediately ceaſe, a ſmall Quantity of the Solution is to be injected with a Syringe.

INTERNAL BLEEDINGS.

A TEA, Deſert, or Table Spoonful may be given alone, or in cold Green, or Red Roſe Tea, or cold Water, and repeated every Four Hours, or oftener, as the Urgency of the Caſe may require.

The Chevalier RUSPINI flatters himſelf, that if the Styptic is properly, and really applied to the Surface of the Wound, and not too much mixed with the flowing Blood, it will always produce the moſt ſpeedy, and ſalutary Effects.

The above Styptic, in Bottles of Eleven Shillings and Sixpence, and One Pound Two Shillings each, Stamp Duty included, to be had of the Chevalier RUSPINI and Son, Surgeon-Dentiſts to the Prince of Wales, in Pall-Mall.

That the above Styptic may the more readily be at hand in the many Caſes of ſudden Danger, which Accident, or Diſeaſe, daily produce, the Chevalier RUSPINI thinks it his Duty alſo to appoint the following Gentlemen Venders of it:——

Mr. PRICE, Leadenhall-ſtreet; Mr. GOLDING, Cornhill; Mr. DAVISON, Fleet-ſtreet; Mr. TESSEYMAN, York; Mr. SMITH and RAEBOURN, Edinburgh; Mr. TAYLOR, Bath; Mr. SURCLIFF, Briſtol; Mr. MOORE, Bath; Mr. COOK, Shrewſbury; Mr. BUCKLAND, Portſmouth; Mr. BARKER, Derby; Mr. CLACKER, Chelmsford; Mr. KEYMER, Colcheſter; Mr. CORNWELL, Conduit-ſtreet; and Mr. SPALDING, Surgeon, Eaſt-Indies.

N. B. A conciſe Relation of the extraordinary Effects of the above Medicine, atteſted by a great Number of Gentlemen of Character in the Faculty, and others, may be had of Mr. JOHNSON, Bookſeller, St. Paul's Church Yard; and of the Chevalier RUSPINI and Son, Pall-Mall.
